Although experience of working in an automotive or similar environment might be useful you don't need to be an expert at electric motors as we'll show you how they fit together. Desired skills and characteristics:

- Practical experience in an automotive, engineering, or similar sector would be useful

- Experience of working to written procedures
- Manual dexterity

Training rate of £8.41p/h.

Following successful probation (3 months), increase to £9.08p/h.

The shifts will be moving to a 4-on, 4-off pattern within the next 6-12 months so we are looking for candidates willing to move onto this pattern in the future.

Benefits:

- Competitive Salary and Pension scheme

- 24 days holiday per year plus bank holidays
